

VCU Council for Community Engagement 2009 Request for Proposals

The Council for Community Engagement (CCE) at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) announces the availability of funds to support VCU faculty and staff projects that will enhance and increase university engagement with the greater Richmond community and will contribute to the research and teaching of VCU units. The Council will offer a maximum of $20,000 per project.

VCU will host two informational meetings to provide opportunities for networking, to discuss multiple approaches for addressing priorities identified by the greater Richmond community, and to ask questions about the Request for Proposals. These meetings will be held on the Monroe Park Campus at the Scott House (909 West Franklin Street, conference room) on January 29, 2009 at noon and on the MCV Campus at the Center for Clinical and Translational Research (1200 East Clay Street, conference room) on February 4, 2009 at noon.

Successful projects will respond to needs identified by our community and support the goals of VCU's Strategic Plan. For background information on VCU's model for university-community partnerships, please refer to Theme V of the university's strategic plan, VCU 2020 at www.vcu.edu/vcu2020.

Criteria:

- Each project must demonstrate participation of 2 or more VCU or VCUHS units.
- Student group or health system applicants must demonstrate VCU faculty involvement.
- Projects should address community-identified needs and reference the sources, such as the City of Richmond Strategic Plan or the strategic priorities of the Greater Richmond Chamber of Commerce www.grcc.com/page/name/Vision2010.
- Projects must demonstrate substantive collaboration of at least one community partner. The community partner may be a government agency, community or nonprofit organization, school, or an affiliate of a local membership organization. The Council defines "partners" as constituencies that commit resources in joint pursuit of a mutually beneficial end.
- Preference will be given to proposals that involve VCU students.
- Preference will be given to projects that have potential for long-term engagement.
- Projects may include support for a person in the community with specific knowledge or expertise that would strengthen the proposed initiative. This person could be designated as a Community Scholar. Community Scholars can assume a number of roles, such as: participant on a research team; consultant to faculty members or students with the design and implementation of projects; liaison to community groups and organizations; and resource for identifying strategies to disseminate skills and knowledge within VCU, VCUHS and to the community.
- Previously funded projects may apply for a renewal grant under the following conditions: a substantive expansion (e.g. addition of new partners or activities) must be incorporated into the request and a sustainability plan must be in place to justify a second year of university support.

Proposal Guidelines:

Funding:

- Funding may not be used for indirect costs.
- Funding may be used for faculty release time, summer salary for 9-month faculty, student workers, Community Scholar PSAs, subcontracted activities, and related costs.

Format:

- Completed and signed Cover Sheet
- Completed Data Sheet
- 10-page limit, double spaced, excluding budget and attachments

Please address these issues in your proposal:

- Need Statement (nature of the problem you wish to address)
- Project Description (primary objectives, population demographics, intended benefits for the VCU units, for VCU, and for the partnering organization)
- How many faculty, staff, students, community partners, and other individuals will be involved? Please describe their roles.
- Please provide a timeline of your project.
- Evaluation (what are the measurable outcomes of the project and how will you evaluate them)
- List anticipated products of the project.
- If this is a research project, how and when will outcomes affect the community partner?
- Can the project or related activities be sustained? If so, how?

Required Attachments:

- One page budget: itemize expenditures and provide budget narrative
- Signed letter of commitment from the community partner(s)
- Signatures of Department Heads and Deans from each VCU unit involved (see below for Faculty application)
- Description of Partners and VCU Expertise
- Most recent annual report from community partner (if appropriate)

Process:

Submission:

Proposal and attachments may be submitted as PDF files by email to swmarrs@vcu.edu no later than midnight on March 13, 2009. Hard-copy proposals must be delivered by 5pm March 13rd to: Council for Community Engagement, Attention: Samantha Marrs, Blanton House, 828 West Franklin, PO Box 828026, Richmond, VA 23284.

Review:

Proposals will be reviewed and finalists selected by April 3, 2009. Finalists and their community partners will be required to give a 15-minute presentation of their proposed project to members of the Council on April 24th. Funded projects will be announced May 1, 2009. The initial review will be conducted by the CCE Grants and Gifts Committee with representatives from the community.

Funding:

Funding will be transferred to the home department responsible for fund disbursement and reporting activities. Monies will be made available July 1, 2009 for expenditure over a period of 12 months. Funded departments will have to request the transfer from the Provost's office.

Required Activities and Reporting for Awardees:

- Funded project directors must complete university forms and applications, as appropriate. IRB approval will be required, as appropriate, prior to the release of funds.
- Expenditures: all activities (including outcome evaluation) must occur within 12 months of receipt of funding.
- The university and community partner will give a team presentation on the outcomes of the completed project at a VCU-sponsored event.
- Final report: a brief narrative report on the activities of the project and a detail of expenditures will be due to the Grants and Gifts Committee within 1 month of project completion.

Questions?

Please direct questions to Samantha Wheeler Marris, chair of the CCE Gifts and Grants Committee via email at swmarrs@vcu.edu. Samantha or one of the members of the Committee will respond to you quickly. We also hope that you share your questions at one of the open house sessions in late January.

General questions about the Council for Community Engagement may be directed to Co-Chairs Cathy Howard at choward@vcu.edu and Sheryl Garland at sgarland@mcvh-vcu.edu – or by visiting the Council's website within the Division for Community Engagement: <http://www.community.vcu.edu/solutions/cce/index.html>
